Tanlac Brings Color to Daughter's Cheeks-Benefited Generally, Mother Says

Mishawaka, Ind., March 1.-Mrs. Ella Weber, of 539 East Fourth street, this city, praises Tanlac, the Master Medicine, because of benefits her daughter, Igerna Weber, 14 years old, derived from its use.

"This medicine certainly has helped my daughter," Mrs. Weber said on December 18. "It's just great.

"For a long time Igerna has been in a weakened, run-down condition. Her appetite was very poor and she said the little food she did eat eat didn't taste right. She was very restless at night and in the mornings always felt tired and worn out. Her kidneys troubled her. She had pains in her back often.

"Relatives told us about Tanlac and recommended it so highly that I bought a bottle and had Igerna take it. I'm surprised at the change in her. The color has come back into her cheeks. Her appetite is splendid now. She's stronger and feels better in every way. She sleeps soundly and peacefully all through the night and gets up in the mornings feeling bright and cheerful. The pains in her back have disappeared.

"I recommend Tanlac às a great medicine."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, loss of appetite and the like.

Tanlac is now being introduced in Rushville at F. E. Wolcott's; in Arlingtin at Mrs. L. T. Davis's; in Carthage at J. H. McCarthy and Sons and in Milroy at Barton's and Sheppards .- (Adv.)

An all around Gas Tractor for almost any Farm, A Sensation in the Tractor Field

Now comes the announcement of a fifth size Case tractor, conservatively rated as 9 H. P. at the drawbar and 18 H. P. at the belt. It is another triumph to Case leadership because it offers to the agricultural world a tractor way ahead of anything in its class. At the 1916 tractor demonstration it proved a sensation. Its performance was remarkable. Farmers everywhere welcome it.

Back of this tractor is 26 years of gas tractor experience. In this 9-18 are combined the merits of all tractors now on the market together with Case principles of construction. The 9-18 solves the farm power problem. On 100 acres and even less this machine will displace horses at a big saving. It will make the hardest tasks the easiest ones. It will cut your labor costs. Let the 9-18 do your plowing deeper and at the right time. Then your discing, harrowing, seeding, operate your harvester or drive the feed cutter, the baling press, fill the silo and operate your own threshing machine. There is no limit to the usefulness of a Case 9-18.

MUSIC IN THE HOME.

Its Refining and Joyous Influence Should Be Welcomed.

So much is done for the children nowadays. So many different sorts of knowledge are crammed into them at Black Horse Troop Will Again Act school. They devote themselves to so many things unconnected either with childhood or home life. Meanwhile one opportunity-rich in possibilities for happiness-is too often neglected. Mr. Josef Stransky gives wise counsel in this matter:

"The way to love music, to increase its production, is to know it when you are young--young individually and young as a nation. It is much more difficult to prepare people to enjoy music after they are grown up and their minds have become crowded with varination should not let its youth slip by as personal escort to Vice-presidwithout filling the souls of the children with music.

"As yet the young people here do not have their minds directed definitely enough in musical channels. I do not trains on the Pennsylvania railroad see groups of children standing about a piano in the twilight and singing to a mother's accompaniment. I do not cadets and their mounts. They will $41.62 see the boys of a neighborhood forming detrain at Pittsburg for dinner and | Muncie-Burglars, after stealing a a small orchestra and playing really fine music, as they do in France and Germany.'

Mr. Stransky overstates his case somewhat. We know of a New England farmer's family of six children, each playing a different instrument, who, with father and mother, make a real little orchestra. And there are a good many such groups of the sort Mr. Stransky says he has not seen-youngsters about their mother at the piano. But there should be still more-many more. There cannot be too many, for, as the wise conductor says, music is something more than mere entertainment. It is "a serious and permanent joy in life * . * * to keep the emotions stirred, the imagination young." -Collier's Weekly.

For the Past Three Years

The management of the city's affairs have been efficiently and economically handled under the guiding hand of MAYOR C. L. BEBOUT. Why make a change?

Past experiences should prove a benefit in the future. Business-like methods have prevailed during this period and there never has been a time when he failed to devote his time to the city's interests. In this period Mayor Bebout has not missed a single session of the city council, and in addition to these duties has disposed of 396 cases in police court.

Platform pledges have been kept regarding law enforcement and to this end Rushville has been made a better place in which to reside.

It is not necessary to have a lawyer at the head of the city government. In the past three years the City has lost but one law suitthat a hopeless case—taken to the higher courts in the interests of the merchants of the city.

Why go limping around with aching, puffed-up feet—feet so tired, chafed, sore and swollen you can hardly get your shoes on or off? Why don't you get a 25-cent box of "Tiz" from the drug store now and gladden your tortured feet?

Political Advertising.

The last national campaign really disclosed the possibilities of political advertising. No one ever realized its worth in politics, but results proved that it paid last November. On account of the precedent set in the ast general election, the candidates in the present primary have drawn their own conclusions and are appealing to the voters through the press rather than spending their valuable time in making a troublesome personal campaign. The Fort Wayne News has some interesting thoughts on this topic as follows:

"The candidates have come to see that when they talk through a newspaper they can talk to a hundred voters for every one they can address in person. Newspaper Hall is packed each evening and the silent addresses there made are more effective addresses than those made in some of our success in Shoe Repairing and little shop where men sit about listlessly smoking cheap cigars and passing in and out. candidates from their advertising statements in the newspapers, and he knows that these are followed closely and intelligently.

"Moreover, there is an added reason just now for the newspaper appeal and that is the fact that at the next municipal election the women are to be voters. When it comes to analyzing a newspaper advertisement and getting the real idea out of it, the women are infinitely more skillful than the men. They are adepts through long experience, and can put their fingers on the vital appeal every time. They are not going to attend the 'speakings' to any great extent but they are going to follow the advertisements and they are going to be influenced by them.

CLOSE TILE DRAIN

Jackson Township Land Owners Seek Injunction Against Hal Green Who Has Watering Place

COMING WOULD COMPEL HIM TO CLOSE

An injunction suit seeking to prevent Hal Green from maintaining a watering place for stock from a tile drain has been filed in the circuit court. The plaintiffs are William Cross, Morton Hinchman, Thomas McManus, Alfred Sharp, Mary F. McCarty, John B. McCarty, Elizabeth Gorman, Eldridge G. Jones. Peter K. Krauss and Mary E. Kelly.

The plaintiffs say they helped pay or the construction of a certain drain in Jackson township in 1902 and recently were assessed for repairs of the ditch.

It is alleged in the complaint that Mr. Green has removed three tile from the ditch and constructed a watering place for his stock. It is alleged that the capacity of the drain is lessened and that the flow of water is impeded because of the opening in the tile drain and that dirt, debris and vegetable matter obstructs the ditch below the watering place. A permanent injunction is asked in the complaint and it is also sought to have Green place the ditch back in its original condition.

A recent grand jury investigated this case but found no grounds for action. Douglas Morris represents the plaintiffs.

WEEKS SEEN TODAY

Weather Man's Prediction Comes True This Afternoon-Day is Very Disagreeable

VISIONS OF SPRING SMASHED

The weather man predicted snow for this afternoon and night his prediction was fulfilled by mid-afternoon. It was the first snow in several weeks and was welcomed by the farmers because the wheat has been without protection for some time.

The day was exceedingly disagreeable. A cold wind from the north and northeast added to the discomfort. Snow fell in the southern part of the state two days ago and people who had visions of an early spring hoped it would not reach this section of the state. Colder weather is believed to be on the way as the snow apparently came from a cold atmosphere.

SLIDING TO DEATH.

A Perilous Mountain Incident and Lucky Escape.

An American who lives in China made the ascent of the sacred mountain, Siaooutaishan, a year or two since, and made, or at least began to make, the descent in a much more unpremeditated manner.

He had reached an altitude of over 9,000 feet and, having lost the trail, branched off and climbed a lower peak to see whether he could discover the right track. He managed to crawl to the top, and since the view was very fine he opened his paint box to make a

As he was sorting his brushes the stone on which he was sitting gave way, and he started sliding down the almost perpendicular slope. He tried to clutch the ground with his hands. He seized every projecting stone in the hope of stopping his precipitous descent, but at the speed at which he was going that was no easy matter.

Death stared him in the face, for another 100 yards would bring him to the edge of a precipice several hundred feet high, over which he must inevitably go. His hair stood on end as he approached the spot, and he can paint box clanging from rock to rock! as it accompanied him in his descent.

A violent shock, which nearly tore his body in two made him think he had gone over; but, no-he had suddenly stopped.

He opened his eyes, but he did not dare move, for his position, although much improved, was far from safe. His coat and strong leather strap that was slung under his arm had caught on a projecting stone, but a single false movement on his part would start him sliding down the slope again.

Slowly, carefully, as he lay on the almost perpendicular slope, he tried to get a footing. When he had succeeded in doing that the great difficulty was to turn round. After several anxious moments, each of which seemed ages long, he succeeded, and there he was, half kneeling, half lying, with his body on the ground, clutching the rock that saved him.

Then, when his agitation passed away, he managed to crawl up, cat fashion, to a position of safety.

IF YOU COULD ESTIMATE the probable cost to you in the life of an automobile—or in the first five years of crank shaft troubles and the other troubles that result from them, you'd find it would amount to fully that much in the case of some cars. WE MEAN, OF COURSE, all those troubles and expenses that are indirectly as well as directly the result of loose or misaligned crank shaft bearings. THAT OLD, OLD ADAGE—so old one hesitates to quote it, yet applicable to so many cases—"a stitch in times saves nine"-applies with singular force to an automobile engine.

Here's One Feature

In Reo the Fifth

That Will Save You

The Price of the Car

HOW OFTEN have you known neglect to make an adjustment at the moment the necessity was apparent, to run into the most serious troubles and the most outrageous repair bills. How often!

OF COURSE YOU MEAN to do it "at the first opportunity" and you resolve each morning you start out, that you'll leave the car at a garage and have it done -or do it yourself when you get home. But-

IT ISN'T DONE because of the time it would take to do it—in the average car.

IF THERE'S PLAY in your main engine bearings, you know it is serious—and is liable to become more serious any moment.

BUT YOU ALSO KNOW it will take time-a lot of time—and you need the car. Don't feel as if you can spare it "today." So it runs along.

THIS REO FEATURE enables you or any handy man to adjust, with the simple socket wrench shown (and which you get with your Reo), the main crank shaft bearings in your Reo motor.

THE OPERATION IS SIMPLE—and getting at it is simpler.

YOU DON'T NEED to remove the motor from the frame as in other cars. Even the hand-hole platesjust the drip-pan—two minutes—and you are there.

IF YOU HAD IT ON A STAND, upside down, you couldn't do it any better, or make a more accurate alignment of the crank shaft.

WITH THE MOTOR and all parts in normal running position, you can feel, by turning it, the slightest "bind" or "play," and you can obtain an absolutely uniform contact in the bearings and a perfect alignment of the crank shaft from end to end.

AND YOU KNOW how important that is.

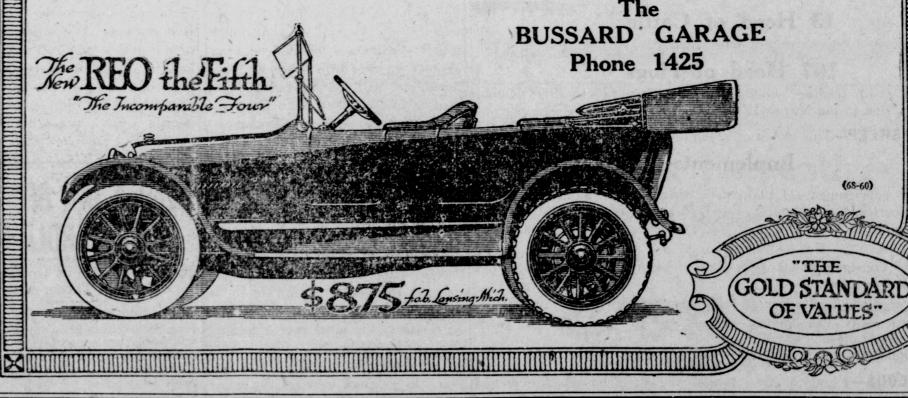

YOU KNOW TOO HOW RISKY such an operation is in the hands of the average garage repair man, with the average motor.

THIS IS ONLY ONE of many features that are Reoand exclusively Reo-that we are going to tell you about in a short series of Reo ads.

THEY EXPLAIN the reason for the low upkeep of Reo the Fifth.

MEANTIME, let us suggest that your order should be in our hands at once if you'd have a Reo the Fifth and get it at the present price-$875 f. o. b. factory.

It Quickly Loosens Up Coughs and Colds in Throat or Chest

Just a little Musterole rubbed on your sore, tight chest before you go to bed will loosen up congestion and break up most severe colds and coughs.

Musterole is a clean white ointment made with oil of mustard. Simply rub it on. No plaster necessary. Better than mustard plaster and does not blister.

Thousands who use Musterole will tell what relief it gives from sore threat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet and colds (it often prevents pneumonia).

To Live Long!

A recipe given by a famous physician for long life was: "Keep the kidneys in good order! Try to eliminate thru the skin and intestines the poisons that otherwise clog the kidneys. Avoid eating meat as much as possible; avoid too much salt, alcohol, tea. Try a milk and vegetable diet. Drink plenty of water, and exercise so you sweat—the skin helps to eliminate the toxic poisons and uric acid."

For those past middle life, for those easily recognized symptoms of inflammaion, as backache, scalding "water," or if uric acid in the blood has caused rheumatism, "rusty" joints, stiffness, get Anuric (double strength) at the drug store. This is a wonderful eliminator of uric acid and was discovered by Dr. Pierce of Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. If your druggist does not keep it send 10 cents to Dr. Pierce for trial package and you will find that it is many times more potent than lithia and that it dissolves uric acid as hot water does sugar.

A flat is a place with no room for expansion, intelletual or chest.

It requires thin furniture and a narrow wife. The rooms are so small you have to walk sideways when you wear your winter clothing. And it's no place for a man with a stomach if you won't want the walls

New initiated flat dwellers have to be carefully trained so they won't walk out in the back yard and fall off the fire escape.

When the fellow who said any old place he could hang his hat was home, sweet home to him went to ive in a flat he kept his hat on and hung himself instead.

Life isn't much without a front oorch and a back yard anyhow.

But what's a man with a 1x5 income going to do with an 8x10 disposition in a 2x4 flat?

NERVE OF A STEEPLEJACK.

His Coolness and Resource In a Time of Extreme Peril.

Ordinary people standing on a narrow ledge whence they can see down 200 or 300 feet are so appalled by the danger of falling that their nerves give way, their bodies flinch and there comes to some at least an impulse to end the mental strain by a leap into the gulf. But the steeplejack is indifferent to height and proximity to the

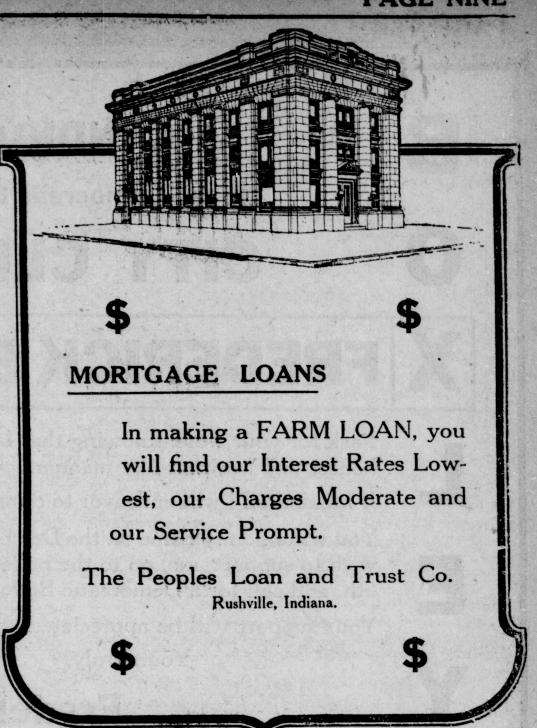

The coolness and resource of these men were never better shown than in a case which happened in upper New York state a few years ago. A steeplejack had flown his kite over a chimney and subsequently drawn himself up to the top. He was just beginning his inspection of the work when by some mishap he dropped his rope and was left, like St. Simeon Stylites, alone on his pillar.

Attempts were made to fly another kite over him, but the wind had dropped. There were iron ladders inside the chimney, but the fires would have to be drawn and the chimney let cool for hours.

The steeplejack was then seen to unlace one of his shoes, take off the long blue stocking worn by such workmen and set to work carefully to unravel it, knotting the pieces of yarn together when necessary.

He then fastened a stone to the end, plumbed the depth, picked the other stocking to pieces and added it to the first length of yarn and let it down far enough to meet a tall ladder, from which he drew up first a piece of strong string, next a rope and then after completing his inspection of the chimney top lowered himself to the ground.-Los Angeles Times.

Origin of an Old Saying. Many think that the saying "Blood is thicker than water" originated with Commodore Tatnall of the United States navy, who assisted the English in the Chinese waters, and, in his dispatch to his government, justified his interference by quoting the words. It is, however, an old English proverb and is to be found in Ray's "Collection of English Proverbs," published in 1672. Walter Scott, too, makes Dandie Dinmont say: "Weel, 'bluid's thicker than water.' She's welcome to the cheeses and the hams, just the same."-Phila-Phone 1809 | delphia Press.

Moline Universal

A Practical Tractor for All Field Work A Proven Success

Plowing is the slowest and most important work on the farm. Therefore, a tractor to be satisfactory must be able to fulfill plowing requirements. The Moline-Universal Tractor will plow from 4 to 12 acres a day. This is more than enough for the average size farm.

If the Moline-Universal were large enough to pull three or four plow bottoms, it would be too large for other field work, such as cultivating, mowing, etc., and for work in small fields. It would have to be heavy and cumbersome, thus packing the soil and decreasing the yield of the crop as the heavy tractors do. It would also cost too much to operate.

For plowing, one wheel is run in the furrow, which makes the tractor practically self-steering and leaves only 1400 pounds of weight traveling on the surface of the unplowed land. The wheel in the furrow insures an even width for the front

The body of the tractor stands level with one wheel in the furrow. To accomplish this the left drive wheel is moved up on the frame through a slot and is locked by two bolts. A truss bar be-tween the bull pinion and the axle holds the wheel true to the pinion in either position. One man can easily and quickly raise or lower the wheel.

Moline-Universal Power-Lift Plow

No standard horse-drawn plow is heavy enough to withstand the enormous strain when pulled by a powerful tractor. If the plow does poor work the whole outfit is not satisfactory.

As much consideration has been given to the design and construction of the Moline-Universal Plow as has been given to the tractor itself. The lift of the plow, the placing of the depth levers within easy reach of the operator, the power lift, the arrangement to prevent trash from choking or clogging the face of the furrow and the land wheel, and every other vital point for successful plowing have been carefully designed and thoroughly tested.

One of the most important features of the Moline-Universal Plow is its ability to back in the furrow or at the end of the field. This feature makec plowing with the Moline-Universal Tractor strictly a one-man operating proposition at all

Furnished with steel bottoms or chilled bases to suit any soil conditions.

Ample Clearance for Cultivating

The fact that the Moline-Universal Tractor can be used for cultivating as well as other field work, puts it in a class by itself. It has 31 inches vertical clearance. The ordinary cultivator has only from 29 to 30 inches arch clearance.

On exhibition at 731 N. Perkins St. For further information see

The Moline-Universal is also open through the center, which gives the operator a clear view

No large amount of headland is required at the end of the field. The automatic governor allows the tractor to be slowed down to a "snail's pace" for turning at end of rows.

Stationary Belt Work

The Moline-Universal develops 10 to 12 horse power on the belt-ample to operate your stationary machinery.

It is equipped with a 6-inch face and 8-inch diameter pulley. This pulley is at the front of the machine, where it ought to be for the greatest convenience. The belt can be quickly put on and tightened by blocking the tractor wheels.

A Complete Power Plant

It will prepare the seed bed, sow the seed, cultivate and harvest the crop—do all the work from start to finish without the use of horses.

It is ready at the turn of the crank for any job and will go through with it in record time without

The Moline-Universal is a high-powered, quality-built tractor that will pay for itself the first year on any good farm.

Advantages of the Two-Wheel Tractor

The Moline-Universal is of the two-wheel type. The front wheels are used for driving, and the implement attached forms the rear wheels. This makes a compact unit, easy to guide and handle, will back as easily as go forward, permits close work in small fields and short corners, and lifts itself out of dead furrows and ditches. This close-coupled feature alone makes the Moline-Universal superior to all other tractors.

Another very important feature of the Moline-Universal is that the implement at work is coupled close to the power plant, and the tractor is operated from the seat of the implement. This enables one man to operate the implement and observe its work. It also removes him from any possible vibration and heat of the engine.

Every ounce of weight on the Moline-Universal is placed on the driving wheels. This accounts for the great traction and drawbar pull and enables us to keep down the weight. On other types of tractors part of the weight is placed on the wheels which do no driving, and this extra weight is not available for traction, but must be moved as

Therefore, it is easy to see why the Moline-Universal Tractor is so economical to operate, is such a strong, sturdy puller, light in weight, and easy to handle.

(Katherine Wyatt)

The girls taking the 12A Domestic science course in the Rushville High School under the supervision of Miss Dennis, prepared and served a dinner to the members of the eight teams at the Annex Auditorium on Tuesday playing in the tournament here last Saturday.

The lower hall of the Graham building was made into a dining room, prettily decorated with flags and flowers. At high noon, eightyfive boys and officials were seated along long lines of tables, to participate in the dinner. The girls served the meal with a grace and ease that reflected great credit upon themselves and their training.

The High School orchestra played several popular selections while Mary Louise Bliss and Kathryn Guffin, assisted by a girl's chorus presented a number of cabaret specialties. All these renditions were received with such enthusiastic applause as to force encores.

At the conclusion of the repast. Mr. Stewart acted as toastmaster and the officials and coaches of each school responded with one minute speeches expressing thanks and admiration for the excellent entertainment accorded them by the Rushville High school.

The silk-making process, from the mating of the moths to the making of a dress of shimmering blue, was fully explained by Mrs. Ann Marks of Cincinnati in her illustrated lecture morning. The interesting story was made more graphic by the presentation of two reels of colored motion pictures, which showed the coveted fabric in every phase of its progress from the silk-worm to the loom to the cloak of an American girl. The novel and artistic pictures combined with the pleasing personality of the speaker made the function a diverting entertainment for the large number of school children who were prvileged

As a fitting climax to the invitational tournament held here last Saturday, Rushville defeated her old rival, Shelbyville, in the final game of the contest by a score of 30 to 18, and thereby secured the basketball and cup, offered as trophies by the competing schools. CITY CLERK'S

First City Primary Campaign Passes Off Quietly With no Spectacular Developments

The board of election commiss ioners has completed all arrange ments for the city primary next Tuesday. The supplies including the ballots, tally sheets, poll books and HOPES TO FORM A passed out to the election inspectors Monday night at the clerk's office in the council chamber.

The official canvass of returns from the primary will take place in the clerk's office next Tuesday night and the inspectors have been notified to bring their returns to the city building as soon as the count is completed and the report signed by the proper officials. The three election commissioners, City Clerk Gunning, Verne Norris and Will Newbold vill have no assistants and will do the work of tabulating the vote officially themselves.

In past years there has been some confusion as to where the official returns are received. In a county election the returns go to the county clerk's office and in a city election to the city clerk's office. The inspectors will be asked to bring in the returns county unit of the Indiana Citizens ns quickly as possible.

The campaign has passed off quiety. Interest in the primary has taken on new life only during the past few days. Not a single candidate has made a speaking campaign and only during the past week has the newspaper advertising been resorted to by the candidates.

The senate struck out the appropriations for the legislative bureau of information and the state statistician's office in the appropriations bill. Attempts have been made at this session to abolish both offices but were futile. If the house concurs in the amendment this will force ibolishment of the offices.

The appropriation bill was also amended to give the national guard $200,000 instead of $100,000 as provided.

Three more days of the legislative session remain—and the program of important measures outlined at the opening is still far from being completed.

The highway commission bill is one of the most important still to receive action and the opinion was today that it would not be passed by this session. The bill has been passed by both houses, but was amended in the lower house to centralize control in the commission instead of giving the authority to county commissioners. It was practically certain that the senate would not concur in these amendments on account of the opposition of the democrats and a few republicans.

Mishawaka, Ind., March 1.-Mrs Ella Weber, of 539 East Fourth street, this city, praises Tanlac. the Master Medicine, because of benefits her daughter, Igerna Weber, 14 years old, derived from its use.

"This medicine certainly has helped my daughter," Mrs. Weber said on December 18. "It's just great.

"For a long time Igerna has been in a weakened, run-down condition. Her appetite was very poor and she said the little food she did eat eat didn't taste right. She was very restless at night and in the mornings always felt tired and worn out. Her kidneys troubled her. She had pains in her back often.

"Relatives told us about Tanlac and recommended it so highly that I bought a bottle and had Igerna take it. I'm surprised at the change in her. The color has come back into her cheeks. Her appetite is splendid now. She's stronger and feels better in every way. She sleeps soundly and pracefully all through the night and gets up in the mornings feeling bright and cheerful. The pains in her back bave disappeared.

"I recommend Tanlac às a great medicine.

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catairhai complaints, rheumatism, nervousness loss of appetite and the like.

Tanlac is now being introduced in Rushville at F. E. Wolcott's; in Arlingtin at Mrs. L. T. Davis's; in Carthage at J. H. McCarthy and Sons and in Milroy at Barton's and Sheppards.—(Adv.)

An all around Gas Tractor for almost any Farm, A Sensation in the Tractor Field

Now comes the announcement of a fifth size Case tractor, conservatively rated as 9 H. P. at the drawbar and 18 H. P. at the belt. It is another triumph to Case leadership because it offers to the agricultural world a tractor way ahead of anything in its class. At the 1916 tractor demonstration it proved a sensation. Its performance was remarkable. Farmers everywhere welcome it.

Back of this tractor is 26 years of gas tractor experience. In this 9-18 are combined the merits of all tractors now on the market together with Case principles of construction. The 9-18 solves the farm power problem. On 100 acres and even less this machine will displace horses at a big saving. It will make the hardest tasks the easiest ones. It will cut your labor costs. Let the 9-18 do your plowing deeper and at the right time. Then your discing, harrowing, seeding, operate your harvester or drive the feed cutter, the baling press, fill the silo and operate your own threshing machine. There is no limit to the usefulness of a Case 9-18.

See These "Case" Tractors on Main Street Every Saturday Afternoon. Also at Carr Garage, S. Main St. Any Day.

MUSIC IN THE HOME.

Refining and Joyous Influence Should Be Welcomed. So much is done for the children nowadays. So many different sorts of knowledge are crammed into them at Black Horse Troop Will Again Act school. They devote themselves to so many things unconnected either with childhood or home life. Meanwhile one opportunity-rich in possibilities for Cows and Heifers _____ 6.00@9.50 happiness—is too often neglected. Mr. SHEEP—Receipts, 200. Josef Stransky gives wise counsel in this matter:

"The way to love music, to increase its production, is to know it when you are young-young individually and young as a nation. It is much more sic after they are grown up and their minds have become crowded with various interests in life. The American without filling the souls of the children with music. have their minds directed definitely enough in musical channels. I do not see groups of children standing about a plane in the twilight and singing to a mother's accompaniment. I do not see the boys of a neighborhood forming detrain at Pittsburg for dinner and a small orchestra and playing really fine music, as they do in France and Germany.'

Mr. Stransky overstates his case somewhat. We know of a New England farmer's family of six children, each playing a different instrument, who, with father and mother, make a real little orchestra. And there are a good many such groups of the sort Mr. Stransky says he has not seen-youngsters about their mother at the plane. But there should be still more-many more. There cannot be too many, for, as the wise conductor says, music is something more than mere entertainment. It is "a serious and permanent joy in life • · to keep the emotions stirred, the imagination young. -Collier's Weekly.

For the Past Three Years

The management of the city's affairs have been efficiently and economically handled under the guiding hand of MAYOR C. L. BEBOUT. Why make a change?

Past experiences should prove a benefit in the future. Business-like methods have prevailed during this period and there never has been a time when he failed to devote his time to the city's interests. In this period Mayor Bebout has not missed a single session of the city council, and in addition to these duties has disposed of 396 cases in police court.

Platform pledges have been kept regarding law enforcement and to this end Rushville has been made a better place in which to reside.

It is not necessary to have a lawyer at the head of the city government. In the past three years the City has lost but one law suit that a hopeless case—taken to the higher courts in the interests of the merchants of the city.

ABOUT EXTRAVAGANCE,

Nature Sets an Example, and Many Poor Mortals Follow It.

Extravagance is a relative term usually misapplied. If a man is worth a hundred million it would not be considered extravagant for him to spend a hundred thousand dollars on goldfish if he wanted to. If a family of ten people living on $1,000 a year should get their pictures taken that would be extravagance.

Extravagance, however, is not exactly buying something you cannot afford. What you cannot afford now you may later, and the very fact that you have bought it may have been the cause of your future prosperity. Extravagance is an exceeding of the speed limit. But who shall say what this is?

One of the chief difficulties in defining extravagance is the general assumption that it is something wicked. Yet extravagance is often necessary. The sun is extravagant—the greatest heat prodigal. They pour out all their possessions without regard to -Miss Mable Mahan is spending what they get in return and then fade and what a glorious time they have doing it! Think of spending a million raindrops a minute, knowing it will break you, and not caring!

The chief fault of extravagance whatever it may be, is not so much in the results it brings about, which may be good or bad, as in the time it wastes. It is immoral because it takes away from our capacity for indulging in the real joys of life.

In temperate regions all kinds of food may be secured, and it seems reasonable to suppose that all kinds have always been eaten as they are today.

"Skiri" of the Bagpipes

It is claimed for the Scottish bagpine that it is louder than any other variety of instrument. This is probably because it was originally designed to cheer the clansmen when they were fighting. In the hands of a skilled performer the strains of a Highland bagpipe carry about six miles, and under specially favorable conditions as far as ten miles. The Duke of Sutherland owns a bagpipe which figured in the battle of Prestonpans, and must therefore be nearly 200 years old, yet it can be heard at a distance of eight miles.

Political Advertising.

The last national campaign really disclosed the possibilities of political advertising. No one ever realized its worth in politics, but results proved that it paid last November. On account of the precedent set in the hist general election, the candidates HAVE GOLOR IN YOUR CHEEKS in the present primary have drawn their own conclusions and are pealing to the voters through the press rather than spending their valnable time in making a troublesome personal campaign. The Fort Wayne News has some interesting thoughts on this topic as follows:

"The candidates have come to see that when they talk through a newspaper they can talk to a hundred voters for every one they can address in person. Newspaper Hall is packed each evening and the silent addresses there made are more effective addresses than those made in some little shop where men sit about list-tessly smoking cheap givers and the silent addresses than those made in some little shop where men sit about list-tessly smoking cheap givers and the silent addresses.

candidates from their advertising statements in the newspapers, and he knows that these are followed closely and intelligently.

"Moreover, there is an added reason just now for the newspaper appeal and that is the fact that at the next municipal election the women are to be voters. When it comes to analyzing a newspaper advertisement and getting the real idea out of it, the women are infinitely more skillful than the men. They are adepts through long experience, and can put their fingers on the vital appeal every time. They are not going to attend the 'speakings' to any great extent but they are going to follow the advertisements and they are going to be influenced by them.

Every woman in this city can be reached through these advertisements where not one in two hundred happen. will even so much as attend those meetings where the boy orators flap George's methods, he will secure a their wings and crow. SLIDING TO DEATH.

A Perilous Mountain Incident and Lucky Escape.

American who lives in China made the ascent of the sacred mountain, Siaccutaishan, a year or two since, and made, or at least began to make, the descent in a much more unpremeditated manner.

He had reached an altitude of over 9,000 feet and, having lost the trail, branched off and climbed a lower peak to see whether he could discover the right track. He managed to crawl to the top, and since the view was very fine he opened his paint box to make a sketch.

As he was sorting his brushes the stone on which he was sitting gave way, and he started sliding down the almost perpendicular slope. He tried to clutch the ground with his hands. He seized every projecting stone in the hope of stopping his precipitous descent, but at the speed at which he was going that was no easy matter, Death stared him in the face, for another 100 yards would bring him to the edge of a precipice several hundred feet high, over which he must inevitably go. His hair stood on end as he approached the spot, and he can well remember the sound of his heavy paint box clanging from rock to rock as it accompanied him in his descent. A violent shock, which nearly tore his body in two made him think he had gone over; but, no-he had suddenly stopped. He opened his eyes, but he did not dare move, for his position, although left, however, crossed with other much improved, was far from safe. His coat and strong leather strap that can never parish. was slung under his arm had caught on a projecting stone, but a single false movement on his part would start him sliding down the slope again.

Slowly, carefully, as he lay on the almost perpendicular slope, he tried to get a footing. When he had suc-ceeded in doing that the great difficulty was to turn round. After several anxious moments, each of which seemed ages long, he succeeded, and there he was, half kneeling, half lying, with his body on the ground, clutching the rock that saved him.

Then, when his agitation passed away, he managed to crawl up, cat fashion, to a position of safety.

Progressive Legislation in That State.

(By United Press.)

Sacramento, Col., Merch 2.-With the departure of Hiram Johnson from the Governor's chair here to don his Senatorial toga in Washington there steps into National officialdom one of California's most remarkable men; and one who has been a national figure for several vears.

Perhaps no more significant charneterization of the man could be given than the fact that he leaves, as the heritage of his years as governor, a long program of fulfilled progressive legislation and a thorougly progressive legislature in this once boss-ridden state to earry into effect more of the people's progressive ideas.

Ever since Johnson, a stocky man of medium beight with a sharp staccato voice and a jerkily eloquent forefinger, ran for the vice-presidency with Theodore Roosevelt, he has bulked large in the nation as a progressive who progressed as per progressive schedule.

In these three paragraphs you get the picture of Johnson as his friends see him. He has enemies who paint him less agreeably and acquaintances who view him as a composite of the two: but all factions agree that Johnson is a "comer" in political affairs. It was around Johnson and his attitude toward the late republican candidate Hughes that the decisive California political tempest raged in the recent Presidential election. What Johnson will do in Washington remains to be seen, as Johnson does not press agent his

ENGLAND CALLS FOR MORE WOMEN

Wants 20,000 Additional For Work in Munition Factories-Second Appeal in Month.

MAKING LAST BIG DRIVE

Want Rich and Poor Alike For This Final Effort According to Munition Ministry.

BY FRANK GETTY.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)
London, Feb. 10.—(By Mail)-England wants 20,000 more women for her second line of advance—the munition factories.

The first appeal, sent out by the Ministry of Munitions told the Unimonth, which called for 8000 women, was immediately met. Today, making "a big spurt for the last the Ministry front into victory" wants 20,000 more.

"We want rich and poor alike for this final effort" an official at the Ministry of Munitions tol dthe United Press. "In the early days of the war women with means were asked to stand to one side to let working and professional women who had to earn their livings give service. Now so that every woman can say in the near future that she has done her share."

"We have found that physical qualities are no longer necessary for the work. As long as the volunteer has delicacy of touch she belongs to the right type."

"Women are at work now in all the danger zones and through their hands entirely munitions go from raw ignot to the finished article. They do the testing, overlooking, packing, scaling, lorrying, and actually place the goods in railway trucks for the front."

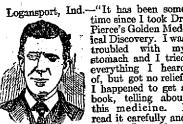

To Live Long!

A recipe given by a famous physician r long life was: "Keep the kidneys in for long life was: 'Keep the kidneys in good order! Try to eliminate thru the skin and intestines the poisons that other-wise clog the kidneys. Avoid eating meat as much as possible; avoid too much salt, as much as possible, avoid too much salt, alcohol, tea. Try a milk and vegetable diet. Drink plenty of water, and exercise so you swent—the skin helps to eliminate the toxic poisons and uric acid."

For those past middle life, for those easily recognized symptoms of inflammation, as backache, scalding "water," or if uric acid in the blood has caused rheumatism, "rusty" joints, stiffness, get Anuric (double strength) at the drug store. This is a wonderful eliminator of uric acid and was discovered by Dr. Pierce of Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. If your druggist does not keep it send 10 cents to druggist does not keep it send 10 cents to Dr. Pierce for trial package and you will find that it is many times more potent than lithia and that it dissolves uric acid as hot water does sugar.

time since I took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medstomach and I tried everything I heard of, but got no relief. I happened to get a book, telling about this medicine. I read it carefully and thought I would try I got six bottles for $5.00 and I could feel the change before I finished the first bottle. I took about four bottles and l know it helped me more than any other medicine. I am always glad to tell and help others by telling about this medicine.

United States' Attitude Towards Mexico Meets With Praise in South America.

MORE FRIENDSHIP SHOWN

Buenos Aires, Feb. 3.—(By Mail) Recent news dispatches from the United States indicating that President Wilson's forebearing policy toward Mexico was adopted to some extent in deference to South American public opinion have created an excellent impression in the southern republics.

For the first time since the Mexican situation became acute the admission is being made here that the United States government has been very patient under severe provocation. Whether this view would still be held in the event of fresh threats of intervention in Mexico is doubtful. phase that will carry the men at the It is a distinct change, however, from the hitherto generally expressed opinion that North American mistakes and deliberate mischief-making were responsible for all the Mexican troubles of the past few years.

That their wishes would be taken into account by the Washington administration, to tell the truth, was more than South Americans expected. From all appearances the we want all classes to come forward President's attitude has done more and help in the making of munitions, to develop a friendly feeling on the southern continent toward the United States than anything in a generation.

Flats.

A flat is a place with no room for xpansion, intelletual or chest.

It requires thin furniture and a narrow wife. The rooms are so small you have to walk sideways when you wear your winter clothing. And it's no place for a man with a stomach if you won't want the walls

New initiated flat dwellers have to be carefully trained so they won't walk out in the back yard and fall off the fire escape.

When the fellow who said any old place he could hang his hat was home, sweet home to him went to live in a flat he kept his hat on and hung himself instead.

· Life isn't much without a orch and a back yard anyhow.

But "what's a man with a 1x5 income going to do with an 8x10 disposition in a 2x4 flat?

NERVE OF A STEEPLEJACK.

His Coolness and Resource In a of Extreme Peril.

Ordinary people standing on a narrow ledge whence they can see down 200 or 300 feet are so appalled by the danger of falling that their nerves give way, their bodies flinch and there comes to some at least an impulse to end the mental strain by a leap into the gulf. But the steeplejack is indifferent to height and proximity to the abyss.

The coolness and resource of these men were never better shown than in a case which happened in upper New York state a few years ago. A steeplejack had flown his kite over a chimney and subsequently drawn himself up to the top. He was just beginning his inspection of the work when by some mishap he dropped his rope and was left, like St. Simeon Stylites, alone on his pillar.

Attempts were made to fly another kite over him, but the wind had dropped. There were iron ladders inside the chimney, but the fires would have to be drawn and the chimney let cool for hours.

The steeplejack was then seen to unlace one of his shoes, take off the long blue stocking worn by such workmen and set to work carefully to unravel it knotting the pieces of yarn together when necessary.

He then fastened a stone to the end, plumbed the depth, picked the other stocking to pieces and added it to the first length of yarn and let it down far enough to meet a tall ladder, from which he drew up first a piece of strong string, next a rope and then after completing his inspection of the chimney top lowered himself to the ground.—Los Angeles Times,

Origin of an Old Saying. Many think that the saying "Blood is thicker than water" originated with Commodore Tatnall of the United States navy, who assisted the English in the Chinese waters, and, in his dispatch to his government, justified his interference by quoting the words. It is, however, an old English proverb and is to be found in Ray's "Collection of English Proverbs," published in 1672. Walter Scott, too, makes Dandle Din-mont say: "Weel, bluid's thicker than water.' She's welcome to the ch and the hams, just the same."-Phila delphia Press.

(By United Press.)

New York, Mar. 2.-Members of the New York Police Department today began to study law at Columbia Commissioner Woods made a special arrangement with the Columbia Law School whereby the entire course will cost each policeman only $16, with $8 additional for books.

The course will last for sixteen weeks, with one two-hour period each week. Some law has heretofore been taught at the police training school, but the idea of an advanced course came from the police themselves. The law course will not be required by the department. It will be entirely optional with the man himself and must be pursued in hours when he is

POWER OF FROST.

Fall of a Fifty Ton Bowlder of Granite In the Yosemite. Delicate frost tracings on the windowpanes seem to be the work of fan-ciful and harmless sportiveness, but the hand that forms them is capable of greater deeds and other kinds.

An official of the geological survey tells of an experience that must have been wonderfully impressive to the spectator. He had been spending some weeks in exploring the Yosemite valley and the "great rocks," like El Capitan, Standing one day of late autumn about the middle of the valley, he was startled by a report like a cannon shot, which filled the whole valley with echoes that roared and boomed, replied and multiplied, in a long continu ed, glorious tumult.

As the deafening sound died away in sullen mutterings under the visor of El Capitan the spectator was able to distinguish the point of attack by the long, clattering descent of a vast quantity of rock.

The night had been a cold one in the valley, and on the 7,000 and 8,000 foot levels of the upper rim the temperature must have dropped almost to zero. must have dropped almost to zero.
Frost, working quietly with his Archi medean lever, had just succeeded in shifting from the shoulder of the sentinel a trifle of fifty tons or so of granite. For near a thousand feet the bowlder fell sheer, swift and silent; then, strik-ing the cliff, it burst like a bomb, shattered into a myriad flying shards and splinters and dislodged a smother of fragments that trickled down to the valley in a stream that lasted for miner had struck dust began to rise into the sunny air, slowly building up like a summer cloud and every bit as snowy. It was the door of granite, powdered instantaneously by the terribe shock.

Moline Universal

A Practical Tractor for All Field Work A Proven Success

Plowing is the slowest and most important work on the farm. Therefore, a tractor to be satisfactory must be able to fulfill plowing requirements. The Moline-Universal Tractor will plow from 4 to 12 acres a day. This is more than enough for the average size farm.

If the Moline-Universal were large enough to pull three or four plow bottoms, it would be too large for other field work, such as cultivating, mowing, etc., and for work in small fields. It would have to be heavy and cumbersome, thus packing the soil and decreasing the yield of the crop as the heavy tractors do. It would also cost too much to operate.

For plowing, one wheel is run in the furrow. which makes the tractor practically self-steering and leaves only 1400 pounds of weight traveling on the surface of the unplowed land. The wheel in the furrow insures an even width for the front

The body of the tractor stands level with one wheel in the furrow. lo accomplish this the left drive wheel is moved up on the frame through a slot and is locked by two bolts. A truss bar between the bull pinion and the axle holds the wheel true to the pinion in either position. One man can easily and quickly raise or lower the wheel.

Moline-Universal Power-Lift Plow

No standard horse-drawn plow is heavy enough to withstand the enormous strain when pulled by a powerful tractor. If the plow does poor work the whole outht is not satisfactory.

As much consideration has been given to the design and construction of the Moline-Universal Plow as has been given to the tractor itself. The lift of the plow, the placing of the depth levers within easy reach of the operator, the power lift, the arrangement to prevent trash from choking or clogging the face of the furrow and the land wheel. and every other vital point for successful plowing have been carefully designed and thoroughly tested.

One of the most important features of the Moline-Universal Plow is its ability to back in the furrow or at the end of the field. This feature makec plowing with the Moline-Universal Tractor strictly a one-man operating proposition at all

Furnished with steel bottoms or chilled bases to suit any soil conditions.

Ample Clearance for Cultivating

The fact that the Moline-Universal Tractor can be used for cultivating as well as other field work, puts it in a class by itself. It has 31 inches vertical clearance. The ordinary cultivator has only from 29 to 30 inches arch clearance.

The Moline-Universal is also open through the center, which gives the operator a clear view

No large amount of headland is required at the end of the field. The automatic governor allows the tractor to be slowed down to a "snail's pace" for turning at end of rows.

Stationary Belt Work

The Moline-Universal develops 10 to 12 horse power on the belt ample to operate your stationary machinery.

It is equipped with a 6-inch face and 8-inch diameter pulley. This pulley is at the front of the machine, where it ought to be for the greatest convenience. The belt can be quickly put on and tightened by blocking the tractor wheels.

A Complete Power Plant . It will prepare the seed bed, sow the seed, cultivate and harvest the crop—do all the work from start to high without the use of horses.

It is ready at the turn of the crank for any job and will go through with it in record time without

The Moline-Universal is a high-powered, quality-built tractor that will pay for itself the first year on any good farm.

Advantages of the Two-Wheel Tractor

The Moline Universal is of the two-wheel type. The front wheels are used for driving, and the implement attached forms the rear wheels. This makes a compact unit, easy to guide and handle. will back as easily as go forward, permits close work in small fields and short corners, and lifts itself out of dead furrows and ditches. This close coupled feature alone makes the Moline-Universal superior to all other tractors.

Another very important feature of the Moline-Universal is that the implement at work is coupled close to the power plant, and the tractor is operated from the seat of the implement. This estables one man to operate the implement and beserve its work. It also removes him from any possible vibration and heat of the engine.

Every ounce of weight on the Moline-Universal is placed on the driving wheels. This accounts for the great traction and drawbar pull and caables us to keep down the weight. On other types of tractors, part of the weight is placed on the wheels which do no driving, and this extra weight is not available for traction, but must be moved as a dead load.

Therefore, it is easy to see why the Moline-Universal Tractor is so economical to operate, is such a strong, sturdy puller, light in weight, and easy to handle.

Of course, they are obliged to register as bride and groom and many of the most laughable complications arise. The book of "Very Good Eddie" is the joint work of Philip Bartholomew and Guy Bolton, with music by Jerome Kern, who wrote the score of "Nobody Home," produced by Elizabeth Marbury and F. Ray Comstock, who are now sponsoring "Very Good Eddie" and find it an even greater success than "Nobody Home." Lyrics are by Schuyler Green.

Officials and Coaches From Each School Make Brief Talk Following Excellent Meal

(Katherine Wyatt)

The girls taking the 12A Domestic science course in the Rushville High School under the supervision of Miss Dennis, prepared and served a dinner to the members of the eight teams playing in the tournament here last Saturday.

The lower hall of the Graham building was made into a dining room, prettily decorated with flags and flowers. At high noon, eightyfive boys and officials were seated along long lines of tables, to participate in the dinner. The girls served the meal with a grace and ease that reflected great credit upon themselves and their training.

The High School orchestra played several popular selections while Mary Louise Bliss and Kathryn Guffin, assisted by a girl's chorus presented a number of cabaret specialties. All these renditions were received with such enthusiastic applause as to force encores.

'At the conclusion of the repast. Mr. Stewart acted as toastmaster and the officials and coaches of each school responded with one minute speeches expressing thanks and admiration for the excellent entertainment accorded them by the Rushville High school.

Hiatt of Milroy (To Martin): "Boy our bunch was born with basketball suits on.'

Martin (Confidently): "Yes, and they're gonna die the same way."

The silk-making process, from the mating of the moths to the making of a dress of shimmering blue, was fully explained by Mrs. Ann Marks of Cincinnati in her illustrated lecture at the Annex Auditorium on Tuesday morning. The interesting story was made more graphic by the presentation of two reels of colored motion pictures, which showed the coveted fabric in every phase of its progress novel and artistic pictures combined with the pleasing personality of the speaker made the function a diverting entertainment for the large number of school children who were prvileged to attend.

As a fitting climax to the invitational tournament held here last Saturday, Rushville defeated her old rival, Shelbyville, in the final game of the contest by a score of 30 to 18, and thereby secured the basketball and cup, offered as trophies by the competing schools. The locals won the right to participate in the deciding contest by their defeats of Milroy and New Palestine in the games of the morning and afternoon.

Dates like people always go in bunches; you have one the first week, two, the second and so on, until you discover that she is about to "box" you and then you ship out of your own accord.

California dates are considered hest but Rushville dates are good enough for me.
